

I am strongly for maintaining the current DO NOT CALL Telephone Consumer Protection Act. I am constantly getting phone calls very early in the morning, on weekends, during supper which I find extremely annoying and bothersome. I chose not to give out my private residential phone number to anyone except family/friends and use my cell phone as my 'phone number of record'. I thought that perhaps this would alleviate some of the annoying calls that I would get with a newly listed number. WRONG!!! They still call but now when I ask for a name and number, they hang up rather quickly. In addition, while they have the means to obtain my private information, their number comes up BLOCKED!!! Now how ridiculous is that. Anyway, anything that can be done in support of this bill will be greatly appreciated....Another annoyed consumer.
